

Hidden Wonders of India: The #CultureForAll Blogging Contest

About:

India is seen as a treasure trove of tangible heritage that helps us understand our history better and connects us to our roots. When we say tangible heritage, we are referring to material remnants of the past, present today in the form of archaeological sites, historical monuments, and artefacts. Despite extensive research and explorations being carried out by archaeologists, historians, and other culture enthusiasts, many cultural markers are left unhighlighted in the Indian context.

Sahapedia is inviting you to write about the Hidden Wonders of India. Your blogs should aim to shed light on the lesser-known tangible heritage of our nation. The submissions can be about anything of cultural significance—a monument, a sculpture, a manuscript, or an archaeological site.

Rules:

1. Each participant is allowed to submit only one entry.
2. Articles should be written in English and be between 300 and 500 words, focusing on India's lesser-known tangible heritage.
3. Submit your entries on or before January 26, 2021. Incomplete applications will not be considered.

Disclaimer: Authors hold the copyrights on their submitted blogs. However, the right to republish will rest with Sahapedia.

Selection Criteria:

The three best entries will be selected based on readability, creativity in writing, uniqueness, and relevance.

Prizes:

One lucky winner will take home a Fastrack Reflex 2.0 watch. Two other participants will each win an Amazon voucher worth INR 1,000. The top three articles will also be featured on Sahapedia's India Heritage Walks website.
